CONGRESS CONCLUDES

Final Adjournment Taken After the Usual Exchange of Amenities.

LIVELY SCENES IN EACH BRANCH.

Representative Cannon Attacks the Methods of the Senate—Appropriations by This and Preceding Congress—Other Matters.

Washington, March 4.—The senate was called to order at 10 o'clock for the last sitting of the Fifty-seventh congress. President pro tem. Frye was, as usual, on the minute in ascending to the seat of the presiding officer. But only about a dozen Senators faced him. The countenances of most of them bore evidence of the two prolonged sessions of Monday and Tuesday, but the indications of fatigue soon vanished and business proceeded smoothly. The crowd in the galleries was large.

Mr. Allison, chairman of the committee on appropriations, made a statement regarding the amount of money appropriated by the present congress, as compared with the appropriations of the Fifty-sixth congress. The total appropriation for the present congress, he said, was $1,554,108,518, as compared with $1,440,489,438 for the Fifty-sixth congress. It was a curious but a necessary thing, he said, to make this comparison in detail than by a mere statement of aggregation. The first and most important item included in this statement for the present congress is an appropriation of $50,150,000 for the Panama canal, which, he said, accounts for nearly one-half of the increase. There is also, he said, an aggregate appropriation for the postoffice department of $153,401,549 for the next fiscal year, as compared with $138,000,000 for the current year, making a difference of more than $15,000,000 in excess of the appropriations of the last congress for the postal service. "This," he explained, "arises from the enormous increase in expenditures caused by increased postal business. Then, too, he said, the rural free delivery service required large sums.

Mr. Hoar spoke on the Philippine bill, which had been displaced. The bill had been talked to death, he said. This was not in criticism of senators who think that in the closing hours of the session this remedy shall not be dealt with in an hour. The point he made, he said, was that the senate, the executive, the house of representatives and the public are not fit to govern the destinies of a people 8,000 miles away who have no voice in the government. "It is the first great object lesson," said he, "of the wretchedness, the iniquity of what the American people did two years ago in regard to these people."

Mr. Lodge made a vigorous reply to Mr. Hoar. In which he said he did not agree with him in the view that the American people are not able to deal with the great problems in the east.

Acting upon a resolution, President Pro Tem. Frye appointed Messrs. Allison and Jones (Ark.) a committee to meet a similar committee from the house and notify the president that congress was ready to adjourn.

When final adjournment had been taken President Roosevelt held an informal reception to senators and members of the house in his room at the capitol. At 12:10 he was escorted to his carriage by a detachment of capitol police, headed by Sergeant-at-Arms of the senate Daniel M. Ramsdell, and returned to the White House.

In the House.

Washington, March 4.—The decks were clear for the final adjournment at noon when the house reconvened at 10 o'clock. The storm which culminated when Mr. Cannon delivered his scathing arraignment of the senate during the consideration of the conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill had passed, and everything promised a serene and peaceful ending. Although members had had little more than time to go home for baths, fresh linen and breakfast in the interim since the adjournment shortly before daylight, they were back in their places for the closing ceremonies. The leaders on both sides were among the earliest arrivals. As is usual, the scenes in connection with the closing attracted vast crowds.

The speaker, despite the strain of the last few days, looked smiling and serene as he faced the house, gavel in hand. Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, who has been conducting the long filibuster, was on his feet, smiling back at the speaker. The Democratic minority was determined to make good their threat, made when Mr. Butler of Missouri was unseated last Thursday, and to filibuster to the end of the session. As soon as the speaker's gavel fell he announced blandly that no quorum was present, and thereupon Mr. Payne, the majority leader, moved a call of the house.

As the roll call was concluded a remarkable scene occurred. Speaker Henderson yielded the gavel to Mr. Cannon, the incoming speaker. As the latter took the chair the members broke into a burst of applause, in which the galleries joined. Mr. Payne, majority leader, then arose and offered a resolution of thanks to the retiring speaker. As he concluded with a glowing tribute to Speaker Henderson, the whole Republican side broke into hearty applause. But there was dead silence on the Democratic side. The resolution was adopted.

Speaker Henderson was visibly affected when he delivered his valedictory. It was largely an appeal to patriotism, and was greeted with an immense demonstration. When the house was finally declared adjourned sine die at 12:02 the whole membership united in singing the national anthem. The members, still singing, then filed down to the speaker's rostrum to bid the speaker farewell.

Cannon's Vigorous Protest.

Washington, March 4.—The speech of Representative Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, delivered in the house on the conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill, protesting against the "legislation blackmail" and insisting on the right of a majority to rule in the senate, in view of the fact that he is to be speaker of the next house, is regarded as foreshadowing a contest upon this question. The scene when Mr. Cannon delivered the speech was the most remarkable of this congress in the house. Mr. Cannon concluded: "I did not believe in statehood, and I am putting now the strongest case against my own party, but a majority of the people, voiced in the senate and the house, had the right to have its will expressed. In my opinion, another body, under these methods, must change its method of procedure, or our body, backed up by the people, will compel the change; else this body, close to the people, shall become a mere tenderer—a mere tender of the pregnant hinges of the knee, to submit to what any one member of another body may demand of this body as a price for legislation."

Retiring Senators.

Washington, March 4.—The session of the senate was interesting, not alone by the official proceedings on the floor of the chamber, incident to the last day of a congress, but by many occurrences which were purely social in their character, due to the fact that the day marked the close of many careers in the senate. Of the 30 senators whose terms expired, when the presiding officer's gavel fell at noon, 13 failed to secure re-election, either through defeat or through their own refusals to enter the contests in their various states. Included in the number whose official presence in the chamber will no longer be noted, are six Republicans and seven Democrats, as follows: Senators Jones (Nevada), Wellington (Md.), Deboe (Ky.), Pritchard (N. C.), Mason (Ill.), Mason (Ore.), Harris (Kan.), Turner (Wash.), Heitfeld (Ida.), McLaurin (S. C.), Jones (Ark.), Vest (Mo.), and Rawlins (Wyo.).

Crowninshield's Retirement.

Washington, March 4.—Rear Admiral A. S. Crowninshield, in command of the European station, on the Chicago, has asked to be retired, and his request has been granted by cable. H. H. Ward, flag lieutenant of Admiral Crowninshield, has tendered his resignation to the navy department. Crowninshield was given command of the Illinois as flagship on the European station, with the chance of taking part in the naval pageants of the coronation of Edward VII. The Illinois was brought home last December and was taken away from him, his ship now being the little cruiser Chicago. The Chicago, while a very serviceable cruiser and a fine vessel of ten years ago, is nothing like as imposing, from a naval point of view, as the Illinois, and as Crowninshield did not care to go back to European ports where his flag had floated over the battleship, in an inferior craft, he protested.

President at the Capitol.

Washington, March 4.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Loeb and two or three members of the White House executive force, arrived at the capitol shortly after 10 o'clock. He was conducted at once to the president's room in the senate wing. While the business of the senate was being concluded, senators and members of the house called upon the president in his room, some of them taking to him bills in which they were interested personally. All measures presented for signature were scanned carefully by the president and members of the cabinet who were interested in them. The bills went through the regular channels.

Under the Wheels.

Youngstown, O., March 4.—Victor Perry, a molder, who was beating his way to Pittsburgh, was instantly killed in the Erie yards here.

KNAPP'S WIFE CALLS.

She Believes Her Husband Innocent and Will Stick to Him.

HAS A PRIVATE TALK AT THE JAIL.

Prisoner Claims He Is Not Right in His Head and Tells Why He Told All—Remains of Hannah Goddard Knapp.

Hamilton, O., March 4.—The reason for the making of all of his confessions was given by Knapp to his sister, Mrs. Sadie Wenzel. The prisoner harbors ill will against his sister, Mary King, and her husband, and does not attempt to conceal it when he charges that they betrayed him. "They told on me," he said, "so I just thought that I would tell everything, and if they are looking for disgrace they could have the disgrace of it all. I hope they are satisfied now. I would like to have had the money to bury Hannah," said Knapp when told that there was no question of the identity of the body, "but as the Kings have butted in and say they are going to bury her, they can do it."

Friends of the late Hannah Goddard Knapp, the murdered woman, further identified the gold band ring and wire earrings found on the corpse, and from general appearances pronounced the body to be that of Mrs. Knapp. It was the intention to let Knapp see the body, but under the objection of the prosecuting attorney it was not done.

Knapp's last wife, formerly Anna Gamble, was here from Indianapolis and had had a private and affecting interview with Knapp at the jail. She believes him to be innocent, and still maintains her devotion to him.

Mrs. Knapp said further: "It is true that he only choked me in his sleep. It is not true that I have threatened Mrs. King, Knapp's sister in Cincinnati, who was reported to have opposed my marriage to Knapp. I have threatened no one, and I will make trouble for no one. All I want is to be let alone. If they take my husband to the chair I want to die. I am so lonely."

Knapp is unquestionably shrewd enough to make insanity his defense for his crimes. He is the vainest man ever confined in the jail here.

Knapp said: "I'm not right in my head, for if I was I would not do such things as I have done. There's no doubt about that. I've got poison in my head at times, and especially after I have smoked a cigar. It seems to set things to working in my head."

Miss Lida Sterritt of this city, half sister of Hannah Knapp, was shown the jewelry as she lay ill in bed. She at once declared them to be those worn by the murdered woman. Another half sister afterward also identified the jewelry, making the fourth relatives to identify these articles.

Grand Jury's Report.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 4.—The Union county grand jury, which has been conducting an inquiry into the wreck on the New Jersey Central railroad near Westfield on Jan. 27, made a presentment to Judge Vall. The grand jury finds that Engineer Davis of the Philadelphia and Reading train which crashed into the Easton local express, was primarily responsible for the wreck, he having passed signals set against him, but that a leaky injector had developed his ear with steam, obscuring his view. The jury say the cars were of ancient make and weakly put together, and that they were heated by coal stoves.

Flood in the Ohio.

Cincinnati, March 4.—The river reached 52 feet here and is rising slowly. The weather bureau sent out warnings for a limit of 53 feet. This is three feet above the danger line here and two feet below any interference with railroads. There is no interruption to traffic. The weather bureau reports that the rise is over as far down as Portsmouth. The stage of 50 feet at Pomeroy has prevented boats from going under the bridge. Steam railways and tractions there are cut off. Aberdeen, O., opposite Maysville, Ky., is surrounded by water and most of the town flooded.

Cantillon's Claims.

Milwaukee, March 4.—Manager Cantillon of the Milwaukee American association, baseball, has put in a claim for first baseman George LaChance of last year's Boston Americans and outfielder Tommy Dowd, manager of a team in the Connecticut league last season, and formerly of the Boston American league team.

Jackies Not Located.

Newport News, Va., March 4.—The battleship Maine is coaling preparatory to sailing for West Indies, and will probably leave here soon. Only three of the runaway jackies have been located.

EASTERN TOBACCO GROWERS.

They Have Formed a Combine to Fight the Trust—The Kentucky Association.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 3.—New England tobacco growers, representing a product valued at $6,000,000 annually, to-day effected an organization the avowed purpose of which is to combat the American Tobacco Company.

The organization will be known as the New England Tobacco Growers' Corporation, and will be incorporated in Massachusetts with a paid in capital of $50,000, divided into 10,000 shares. The corporation will have no part in the growing of tobacco, but will establish centrally located warehouses at which the tobacco of stockholders will be assorted, graded and sold. Growers who enter the corporation will be held in line by an ironclad agreement having a forfeit clause attached.

The most extensive growers in New England were present at to-day's convention, and it is expected that within two weeks the planters will be a unit in favor of the plan. Prices of New England tobacco have fallen steadily since October, but the quotations of packers to manufacturers have not weakened. The growers attribute this condition to the activity of the American Tobacco Company which, it is alleged, has influenced independent buyers to shade prices, which are now the lowest since 1897.

This is patterned somewhat after the proposed Tobacco Growers' Association of the white burley district now being organized in Kentucky. The essential object of the association is to resist the trust or as it is called the Continental Tobacco Company and form a competing organization or at least compel the trust to accord the tobacco growers better treatment. It must not be understood that this organization is designed to take in the tobacco growers of the country or even all of the Kentucky growers. There is a certain small section of Kentucky, principally the central and northeastern part of it, with one or two counties in Ohio, which produces white burley, a fine tobacco, light in color, suitable for the fine smoking and other manufactured brands. It used to bring excellent prices in the tobacco market, as it is in demand all over the world. Ten, twelve and even more cents a pound for ordinary brands. To-day the price averages about 6 cents. The growers attribute this condition to the action of the trust, at whose mercy they consider themselves. They look upon the tobacco warehousemen as in league with the trusts. They therefore want to emancipate themselves from this thralldom and oppression.

Mr. Hawkins, who is at work organizing the association, estimates that the white burley district produces two hundred million pounds of tobacco annually. The association might be assured of handling sixty per cent. of this or one hundred and twenty million pounds. He estimated that after paying the farmer twelve cents for his tobacco, the association would have one cent a pound profit. This would be practically doubling the present price. It seems, according to Mr. Hawkins, that between the price paid to the growers and the price paid by the public, there is a rake off of six cents a pound somewhere and he asks who is getting all this money? He answers the question himself by saying that it is the Continental Tobacco trust. He wants the tobacco growers themselves to have these six cents, and believes they can get it by making the effort.

At the recent meeting of the growers in Lexington the Secretary stated that the Tobacco Growers' Association will be fully organized by May 1 and that beyond a doubt the association would handle the next crop of "white burley."

It was decided by the committee to increase the capitalization of the association to $5,000,000 instead of $3,000,000. The association has been incorporated under the laws of South Dakota and about $100,000 of the stock subscribed has been paid up. The shares are worth $10 each, but the subscribers are as yet asked to pay only a small per cent. This is for the working of the association until the permanent organization is effected.

National League Meeting.

New York, March 4.—The National Baseball league met in this city to prepare for the opening of the playing season. President Pullam was in the chair, and the officials present included John T. Brush and Frederick Knowles of New York, James Hart of Chicago, Barney Dreyfus of Pittsburgh, Edward Hanlon, Charles Ebbetts and Hardey Von der Horst of Brooklyn, Max Fleischmann and August Herrmann of Cincinnati, Frank DeHaas of Philadelphia, and A. H. Soden and W. H. Conant of Boston.

FEAR ANOTHER RISING

Eyes of Europe Again Turned Toward the Celestial Empire.

ANTI-FOREIGN MOVE ANTICIPATED.

Who's of China Ramified by a Network of Active and Secret Boxer Committees—Fighting in Macedonia—Foreign News.

London, March 4.—Rumors are again prevalent of approaching trouble in China. An anti-foreign movement within the next few months is declared to be inevitable. A dispatch from Tien Tsin says the entertainments which are being prepared at the palace for members of the legation resembles the treacherous friendliness that preceded the Indian mutiny. Tung and Tuan, the exiled Boxer leaders, are declared to be the villains of the piece, and the correspondent thinks that the idea once again will be the powerlessness of the court to check rebellion. Then hordes will come down under the two exiled leaders and nominally overpower Peking, and at the same time swell their following with all the forces in the capital, and begin a grand march of extermination against everything foreign. This time, however, the Yangtze region and every port must rise simultaneously, and for this purpose all the Yangtze defenses are being brought to the highest state of effectiveness.

Russia is very much alive to the situation. The latest information received at St. Petersburg from the secret embassies of the Russian legation at Peking indicates that nearly the whole Celestial empire is ramified by a huge network of secret Boxer committees, which only await an opportunity and given signal to sweep the detested whites out of the country.

Fighting in Macedonia.

Constantinople, March 4.—Increasing numbers of Bulgarian revolutionary bands are operating in Macedonia, and the frequency of still encounters between them and Turkish forces is regarded here as indicating that a general rising had already begun. The inhabitants appear not only to be sheltering these bands, but to be informing them of the movements of the troops, thus enabling the revolutionists to evade pursuit. The telegraph wires are being cut by the revolutionists, who are determined opposing the troops whenever they encounter them. The aggregate losses on both sides have been heavy.

Lost Her Libel Suit.

London, March 4.—Lady Cook, the widow of Sir Francis Cook, better known in New York as Tennie C. Claflin, lost the libel suit brought against her by her former secretary, the jury returning a verdict in his favor for $2,750. The plaintiff sought to recover $50,000, because he alleged Lady Cook said Wallace had tried to blackmail her.

Excitement in Honduras.

Mobile, Ala., March 4.—The excitement is so great at Puerto Cortez, Honduras, and labor so scarce, because it has fled to the interior, that the steamer Espano sailed for Mobile Saturday and brings $70,000 in coin shipped out by Puerto Cortez merchants for safe keeping.

LOSS FOR PROHIBITION.

Result of the Annual Elections in Vermont Cities and Towns.

White River Junction, Vt., March 4.—More Vermont cities and towns, at their annual elections, have voted in favor of selling intoxicating liquor than favored the change from prohibition to high license in the general vote last month, while in those communities still opposed to the traffic the majorities have been, as a rule, decidedly reduced. The total vote in 221 cities and towns out of 246 was: Yes, 27,728; no, 23,578, as compared with last month's vote of: Yes, 28,163; no, 28,289. The missing 25 towns stood last month: Yes, 2,692; no, 1,426. This shows a gain for high license of 435, and a loss for prohibition of 4,711. The state, after 50 years of prohibition, decided a month ago to permit the cities and towns to decide the question of granting the sale of liquor restricted by high license.

Charged With Smuggling.

New York, March 4.—Antoine De Jour and Jules Le Doux, said to be stewards on the French line steamer La Savoie, were arrested and held in $2,500 bail each on charges of smuggling embroidery, and fancy articles from France. It is alleged that members of the crew of steamers touching at French ports have been smuggling fancy goods for years.

The Olive Stove company's plant at Rochester, Pa., was demolished by an explosion of gas, caused by a leak in the mains. Herman Goedeker, Sr., an employe, was fatally burned.

REPUBLICAN TRUST LEGISLATION.

The Republican so-called anti-trust law just passed by Congress, and which gives to the new Department of Commerce and Labor the power to investigate and gather information about certain great corporations or trusts, and to report such data to the President, has been heralded by Republicans as a blow at the combines, but a Washington writer thinks it is a harmless one so far as the trusts are concerned. He says the law is a combination of "ifs":

If, the Secretary of this new department is so inclined he may fish for facts in regard to trusts;

If, the chief of the bureau of corporations in this new department is not owned by the trusts, and if he is capable, and if he has competent and honest assistants and if they fish in the right place, they may obtain valuable data;

If, when valuable data is obtained, the President wishes, he may have access to it;

If, then, the President has time to read it and sees fit to do so, he may make public some or all of this data; or,

If he thinks best, he may simply make "recommendations to Congress for legislation" to regulate trusts;

If, then, Congress is not controlled by the allied trusts and railroads, it may, in the course of time, pass new legislation to curb trusts;

If, then, the Attorney-General is so inclined, and if he has time, he may apply the new legislation to the offending trusts;

If, then, the evidence is sufficient, the courts may, in years to come, decide that the new legislation is constitutional, and that some particular trust has been guilty of illegal practices;

If, then, the trust has not already changed its form or ceased to exist, it may pay a nominal fine, and, in the course of eight or ten years—as did the Standard Oil trust—slightly change its name and location and continue its business of plundering the people.

BECKHAM'S ELIGIBILITY.

He Will File Suit to Have the Question Settled by the Courts.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 3.—Gov. Beckham has been in conference to-day with a number of his close political advisors, including John A. Fulton, of Bardonia; Judge J. Coleman Beckham, of Shelbyville, and Judge W. S. Pryor, and as a result of that conference it is announced that a suit will be filed before Judge Cantrell in Versailles this week to test the question of the eligibility of Gov. Beckham to succeed himself as Chief Executive.

This action is probably made necessary by the continued claim of his opponents that he is ineligible, and Gov. Beckham's failure to have the test made was exciting much comment among the voters.

Col. Hendrick said in his speech yesterday that if elected Governor he would not allow any of his appointees to go about the streets of Frankfort professing to tell in advance how the Judges of the Court of Appeals would vote on questions brought before them for decision. It was not quite clear as to what particular persons or question he referred to, but the final decision of the eligibility suit will be watched with much interest all over the State.

India now has the Bible translated into fifty-nine languages.

The Southern Methodist bishops will meet in St. Louis on May 6th.

The Court of Appeals holds that the 25 per cent. due County Attorneys out of fines and forfeitures must be paid to the County Attorney who is in office when the judgment is rendered, although a former County Attorney may have done all the work in securing testimony and examining witnesses.

Mrs. Margaret O'Rourke, aged thirty-six, wife of the late James O'Rourke, died Wednesday morning at Helena, of consumption. She was a daughter of James and Margaret Hedrick, and leaves one sister, Mary, and two brothers, John and Terrence. She leaves no children. The funeral will take place Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Mayelick Catholic Church, Rev. Father De Bruyn officiating. Interment at Washington.

A Velvet Party!

Did you ever go to a velvet party? No? Well, come to ours, FRIDAY AT TEN O'CLOCK. All kinds of plain velvets—every color under the sun except probably the color you want, except you be on hand at the start. The peculiar part of a velvet party is that your neighbor selects the color she thinks you want—that's what you think when you come too late. The cheapest was 50c., the best $1.50 per yard; lengths from one-half yard to five yards. Choice, 15c. per yard. Do you think you will come to the party?

The Public Buildings and Ground bill as agreed to in conference and adopted by both branches of Congress carries $10,000 each for Henderson and Maysville. This makes the appropriation for Maysville's public building $50,000. Work will probably be commenced on the building now early in the spring.

RAILROAD TALK.

New Road into Coal Fields Will be Built. L and N. Men Looking at the Narrow-Gauge.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., March 3.—One of the most valuable improvements spoken of in the Eastern Kentucky mountains is the new railroad now in contemplation by Mr. E. W. Strack, the wealthy capitalist and lumber king. Mr. Strack has in mind to change the Licking and Yale railroad from a narrow-gauge to a broad-gauge, and extend it from Yale, Bath County, to West Liberty in Morgan County, and will then cross to Midland City, where it will connect with the C. and O. This will cut out Salt Lick, but will save a great deal of grading and cut expenses of building in half. The road can be completed for $300,000, and is certain to be constructed. This road will open up a tremendous new territory of lumber and coal. Mr. Strack owns thousands of acres of land all along the proposed route.

[Fleming Gazette.]

E. C. Arnold, a freight agent connected with the L. and N. at Cincinnati and also representing the Kentucky and Ohio Coal Company, which owns several thousand acres of coal lands in Knox and Letcher counties, was in town Monday conferring with Superintendent N. S. Dudley and Assistant R. L. Dudley, of the C. F. and A., regarding railroad extension or connection with the rich and undeveloped coal fields of Kentucky. He was enthusiastically in favor of railroad construction, but had nothing new to report as to what the chances are for the movement being a success.

A Venerable Sage...

Whose advice was much sought, being noted for his sound judgment and business prudence, once counseled a young merchant in this fashion:

"If you want to be noticed you must get
"In front of folks and worry 'em some."

We've been trying very hard to make this bit of philosophy fit our own case, and, through these advertisements, believe we have succeeded in attracting a generous measure of patronage to our house. We don't want to "worry" you too much with a recital of these facts, but expect you to notice that we stand in "front" of all competition in our line in Northeastern Kentucky. Some Maysville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them, And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Mrs. E. J. Thompson, of 911 East Second street says: "Mr. Thompson procured Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store, corner of West Second and Market streets, and speaks in high praise of their curative powers. Entire exemption from suffering from backache is something so entirely unusual that a remedy which acts so promptly and effectively as did Doan's Kidney Pills is a most desirable one of which to know."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Black Patti's Troubadours.

"Better than a circus," aye even "Better than a minstrel's" is the verdict upon this season's "Black Patti Troubadours." The present is the seventh season and first grand trans-American and European tour. The inaugural performance this season was given at the Star Theatre, New York City, and the final performance is announced to occur at London, England, July 4th.

The New York Star Theatre engagement was of a week's duration and the house was packed to the doors at every evening and afternoon performance. The New York critics pronounced it a great show, and the best of its kind ever seen on the stage of the Metropolis.

KENTUCKY'S EXHIBIT.

The State Will Occupy a Unique Position at the World's Fair Next Year.

Kentucky will occupy a unique position at the World's Fair in St. Louis next year. In her name will stand one of the most attractive of the State buildings, and in her name will be made exhibits of products and resources that the world will marvel at.

Every other State and Territory in the Union will be represented at the exposition in an adequate way, as will all civilized nations, but appropriations from their public treasuries will have made the path for them an easy one to travel.

Kentucky stands alone on this proposition. Other States have high-salaried commissions at whose command are almost unlimited funds with which to erect a State building and collect, install and maintain exhibits.

All the $100,000 the Kentucky Exhibit Association is raising will go into the Kentucky building and into the Kentucky exhibits. There are no salaries.

It will be one of the studies of the exposition—what Kentucky did without legislative help compared with what other States did with the help of the general assemblies.

Kentuckians will see the deadly parallel and vote the failure of their Legislature in making an appropriation a blessing in disguise.

The movement inaugurated by the Kentucky Exhibit Association has progressed far enough to insure its success. In the personnel of its board of directors—corresponding in importance to World's Fair commissions of other States—is represented commercially, industrially and financially, that element of Kentucky life which stands for progress.

This directory has built up an organization that is perfect in its making. A general finance company is made up of chairmen of sub-committees representing every branch of business, every class of trade, every professional line. These chairmen have surrounded themselves with the very best men of their particular branches. Each has solicited by mail all the firms and corporations of his class, and will soon follow it up by personal appeals. There are also committees on miscellaneous concerns, who will be urged to contribute.

While the finance committees are working out their plans, the exhibit end of the enterprise has not been neglected, nor has the building committee been idle. Committees have been formed by the directory on agriculture and horticulture, minerals, live stock, tobacco, whiskey, manufactures, forestry, education, art, liberal arts, machinery, etc., and all of these are planning to make displays at St. Louis that will be eye-openers even to residents of Kentucky.

For the Farmer.

An Iowa potato farmer says it pays him to grow potatoes at 25 cents a bushel. The cost, including seed, land, rent and all, is between $20 and $25 an acre, and the crop, even at 25 cents, averages him from $40 to $50, so that he doubles his money.

The largest apple orchard in the world is said by authority of a correspondent of the New York World to be located on the Ozark plateau near Lebanon, Mo. The orchard contains 138,000 trees and comprises 2,300 acres. Its apple crop last year is valued at more than $1,000,000.
